

Title:

Acting - Audition Tips

Word Count:

694

Summary:

In this article we're going to go over some basic things that one should do before, during and

Keywords:

acting

Article Body:

The fact is, auditions are a nerve wracking experience for actors. They'd rather have their eyes

In getting the audition in the first place, you or your agent are going to have to submit a photo

If you are called for an audition you will usually be given what are called "sides" or a few pages

The first thing to do is read the script and prepare for the part. Find out everything you can about

Before you go to the audition, dress for the part. Wear clothes that fit the character and the Warm up for the audition just like a pitcher warms up before a ball game. Do some stretches and

When you get to the audition, sign in. You may have to wait for others to read for the same part

When actually reading for the casting director, be prepared for anything. Some may sit and chat

There are some things not to do when reading for the casting director. Don't suck up. A sincere

After you're done with your reading the director will let you know when they'll get back to you

If the casting director likes your performance you will be asked to come back. At this time they Keep records of each audition. Make notes of what things you did and what you think you can do

The more auditions you do the better you will get at them.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>