

Title:

Acting - On The Job

Word Count:

680

Summary:

In this article we're going to go over what to expect when you've finally landed that first bi

Keywords:

acting

Article Body:

Many people think that acting is all about glamour and living the good life. Maybe you get som

You're up at about 5:30 in the morning. Why? Because most likely you have a call time of 7 AM

Before you even get a chance to finish your bagel, a girl from wardrobe comes over to you and

The director and the whole crew, lighting, cameras, etc., are already all there setting up the

After about 20 minutes or so, the production assistant knocks on your trailer door and calls y

The scene begins. Your co-star approaches you and begins to say her lines. You then say yours

You'll get about 2 shots done before it's time to change the set for the next scene. There's n

That is the truth about acting. Only about 10% of the time are you actually acting. The other

At around noon you break for lunch. An hour later you come back, maybe do another scene and th

Not very glamorous is it? No, but when the film is released and you get to see what they've do

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>