EDGAR filings: 12 Things to look for before you Hire an Agent

EDGAR stands for the Electronic Data Gathering, Analysis, and Retrieval system, and is a system used by the SEC to file financial reports.

Before you hire an agent for filing services, there are 12 things that you should look for and ask about:

1. Do they have a good record? You should find out from the company who else they service, and how long they have been in business.
2. What do they charge? You need to know what you are going to pay, and check the price against other agents.
3. Do they file your forms? Make sure you know whether they will file your forms for you, or if you have to file them yourself.
4. Can they work with your file types? Do you have hard copies that need to be "EDGARized"? Make sure they can handle your file types.
5. How long will it take? Check to see how long it will take for your files to be converted to EDGAR format.
6. Can they help you get started? If you need to file for the first time, make sure that your agent can help you with the process.
7. Can they help you get your filing codes? If you don't have or know your filing codes, can they help you get them?
8. Can your agent do HTML filings? Will your agent help you file if you change accountants or auditors?
9. Do they know what forms you have to file? There are many different forms to consider when filing.
10. Are they registered agents? They should be.
11. Are they specialized? If you have a lot of paper documents and their specialization is in that area, they may be a good choice.
