Magic has been around for centuries. It has even been associated with medieval times in stories. Now who would ever imagine that magic has now gained a more favorable popularity? With more than a deck of cards is one of the most common props used by magicians. There are many forms of magic. The first thing that a person must learn is how to shuffle. This is done using both hands and feet. After that, one can start performing certain tricks that will both fool and amaze the audience. The most basic trick that anyone can master however is letting someone pick a card and after some time, the card will be found in the magician's hand. Other than using magic cards, there are so many other tricks, which involve other props or parties. Cards can be bought at the local specialty store or ordered online. Sometimes these come with instructions. One secret that either a newbie or an expert can benefit on while using a magic card or just a
