

Title:

Next Week on TV (5-8/5-14)

Word Count:

506

Summary:

Things are starting to get tight in both the NHL and the NBA as both leagues move into their s

Keywords:

MLB, baseball, golf, boxing, tennis, racing

Article Body:

Things are starting to get tight in both the NHL and the NBA as both leagues move into their s

* All times Eastern.

Monday, May 8

Twins at Rangers (7 p.m., ESPN)

This match-up pits two teams that might stay in the playoff race or might completely implode.

Tuesday, May 9

College Lacrosse (Times vary, CSTV/FCS)

The college lacrosse season is winding down, and a variety of league championship games and en

Wednesday, May 10

Red Sox at Yankees (7 p.m., local/satellite)

After pulling out to a quick early lead, the Sox and Yankees are back in almost a dead heat fo

Thursday, May 11

Byron Nelson Classic (4 p.m., USA)

A wide-open tournament, this PGA event was won last year by the relatively-unknown Ted Purdy.

Friday, May 12

Boxing, Edner Cherry vs. Monty Meza-Clay (9 p.m., ESPN2)

Edner Cherry takes on Monty Meza-Clay in a super-featherweight battle. Meza-Clay has yet to be

Saturday, May 13

Tennis Master Series in Rome (Noon, TENNIS)

Quarterfinal action featuring the stars from when tennis players actually mattered. Sometimes,

Sunday, May 14

Formula One Racing: Spanish Grand Prix (Noon, CBS)

American race fans rarely get a chance to see races in the world's premier racing circuit. Fer

Sports Betting @ Http://WagerWeb.com

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>