And don't forget to enjoy it!

watercolor: tips

First you need either a single sheet of paper or a watercolor block.

Directly before starting work, the paper is well dampened and stuck , or pinned down.

A single wetting is not enough. It takes a while for dry paper to soak up enough water.

While the paper is relatively dry before another wetting, you can lay in a few pencil outlines

After the drawing, dampen the page again and leave it to dry while you get the paints ready.

Always keep 2 jars of water at hand: one for washing out the brushes and the other, filled wi

Brushes: No 6 is OK.

Paints: Keep them in a tin box. Pans are more economical, but it takes longer to soften.

Sponge cloths or rags are needed to wipe palettes clean.
