

Title:

Questions Storytellers Need To Ask Themselves

Word Count:

267

Summary:

Asking yourself certain questions can make your presentations better and more fun!

Keywords:

storytelling, speaking, keynotes, programs, workshops, association meetings, festivals

Article Body:

.Who am I and why would someone hire me?

- Can I work a crowd?
- Can I work in any weather environment?
- What do I have to offer a festival or event?
- Can I be flexible enough to fit the needs of the audience?
- Can I be a team player? Will I be our partner to the producer?
- Will I promote the festival or event?
- Do I have any "non negotiable" points?
- Am I fun and enjoyable to be around?
- Am I comfortable around kids, animals, the elderly, etc.?
- Am you available for picture taking with audience? Autographs?
- Above all, can I be at the festival or event on time!!!?

Asking yourself these 12 simple questions can help you to decide if you want to perform at cer

To make these questions work, first answer them in writing. Don't worry about the way it is la

Some of the questions can be hard to answer. Am I fun and enjoyable to be around? Some folks m

Remember if you don't ask yourself these questions event producers will!

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>