

Title:

Recognized researcher is called medical paper ghostwriting.

Word Count:

466

Summary:

The practice of an industry specialist writing a medical paper to be published in a peer-review

Keywords:

Medical Paper

Article Body:

The practice of an industry specialist writing a medical paper to be published in a peer-review

"Many of the articles that appear in scientific journals under the byline of prominent academi

The New England Journal of Medicine recently revealed that a 2000 article on Vioxx "omitted in

Applications may be submitted in various categories to be determined. Each category has seven

Estimates suggest that almost half of all articles published in journals are by ghostwriters.

While many studies have shown that cyber-records can reduce errors, improve care and lower cos

One important contribution of the current paper is to update the prior econometric work to the

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>