

Title:

TV Stars - Really? They Started On The Legit Stage

Word Count:

1531

Summary:

Many times the general public associates an actor with a role they play on a long-running tele

The fact is the technique most often ta...

Keywords:

TV,Stars,Really,They,Started,on,the,Legit,Stage

Article Body:

Many times the general public associates an actor with a role they play on a long-running tele

The fact is the technique most often taught to American stage actors - some form of the Stanis

The biggest changes have to do with the subtlety employed by those acting for the camera. Stag

For someone who has only done television or film, acting on the stage can be difficult. The st

Of course the scariest thing about acting on stage is the fact that you're in front of a live

Here are a few actors that you've become familiar with on television who first acted on the le

Jerry Orbach

Orbach, who passed away in 2004, was best known as the wisecracking Detective Lennie Briscoe o

Bebe Neuwirth

Beatrice "Bebe" Neuwirth has recently become a regular on Law and Order, where she plays the m

Jason Alexander

Best know as Jerry Seinfeld's obnoxious best friend George Costanza in the sitcom Seinfeld, AL

Sam Waterston

On television he plays tough, no nonsense D.A. Jack McCoy in Law and Order (1990), but origina

Barry Bostwick

On the Michael J. Fox sitcom Spin City, Bostwick played the dimwitted mayor Randall M. Winston

Patricia Heaton

For 70 episodes, Heaton played Debra Barone, Ray Romano's wife on the very popular sitcom Ever

James Gandolfini

Gandolfini continues his run as the cold-hearted, insecure, narcissistic Tony Soprano on HBO's

Other actors, who have either made their name or learned invaluable acting lessons in the thea

Movies are a little over 100 years old and television is about 75 years old. The formal theatr

Go to a Broadway show or a professional theatre near you - you may catch a performance by some

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>