

Title:

The Path To Self-Destruction: Rock Music, Drugs, and Depression

Word Count:

509

Summary:

The article is about rock stars, who, despite their wealth, fame and fortune, ended up committing

Keywords:

self-destruction, depression, overdose

Article Body:

Rock Stars...we are fascinated by them as much as we idolize Hollywood celebrities. We listen

Often, being a rock star would also mean that they are associated with substance abuse and dru

Perhaps, we tend to forget that they just like the rest of us --- real people with real proble

Like Joplin and Morrison, there are other music legends who have been immortalized through the

What made them that way? Self-destructive people are aware of their faults. They can be self-o

Most who struggle with thoughts of suicide and other forms of self-destruction usually exhibit

Too much smoking

Being stress out always

Drinking a lot

Having a lot of casual sex

Not getting enough rest and sleep

Not seeing a doctor or ignoring the doctor's orders

Self-destructive people are more focused on the ^outer universe and have lost sight of the nee

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>