

Title:

Checklist for Your Metal Building Project

Word Count:

647

Summary:

If a business is considering a construction project for a new building, then it is necessary t

Many companies w

Keywords:

metal buildings, dealer, designer, construction, contractor, documents, building, supplier

Article Body:

Many companies will save money when they operate in a metal building. Metal buildings are cheap

Therefore, if a business is considering a construction project for a new building, then it is

The Construction Project is all encompassing and includes all materials that make up the metal

The Contract Documents are the legal instruments defining the work and materials needed to complete

The Contractor is that person who will supply materials and complete the erection of the metal

The Dealer (an independent contractor) is that person who will order and purchase the metal building

The Designer is the person responsible for the design of the metal building. The Designer can

The End-user owns the metal building construction project for eventual occupation, leasing, and

The Erector assembles or erects the metal building system. The Erector could also be the contractor

The General Contractor is responsible for providing all the materials and work for the metal building

The Metal Building Supplier designs and supplies the materials for the metal building project.

Review all of the above aspects of the various personnel involved in a metal building project

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>