

Title:

First to Invent vs. First to Patent

Word Count:

576

Summary:

In this article I would like to clarify the difference between two very important Patent rules

Keywords:

idea invention ideas inventions patent patents marketing inventor ideajets

Article Body:

First to Invent vs. First to Patent

Introduction:

In this article I would like to clarify the difference between two very important Patent rules

First to Invent Rule

First to Invent Rule states that the United States Patent Office (USPTO) will grant patent on

First to Patent Rule

First to Patent Rule, on the other hand, grants patent to people who submitted Patent paperwork

What can one submit as a proof that he is the original and rightful owner of the patent? Two

Provisional Patent Application

Provisional Patent Application may be the only source of proof that you are the original inventor

Inventor Journal

Inventor Notes or Journal is another popular method of keeping records regarding the time-line

Summary

As one can see, United States and Canada abide the First to Invent Rule and protect original

If you are interested in reading more, please visit <http://www.ideajets.com>

Robert P. Stewart

www.ideajets.com - <mailto:support@ideajets.com>

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>