

Title:

How the Online Gambling Ban helps Al Qaeda

Word Count:

533

Summary:

One of the justifications used to ban online gambling in the USA was that online gambling was

Keywords:

Ban, casinos, terrorists, protest, petition, online casinos, gambling, al qaeda, angryonlinegambler, co

Article Body:

Groups like Al Qaeda may very well be using online casinos to raise money for their global Jih

The way it helps them is easy to understand. Most of the money spent on online gambling was go

Out of fear of repercussions, as soon as the law was signed these companies sold off all opera

The problem with the Gambling ban is that it does not stop people from gambling online it only

It is these small casinos that before went mostly unnoticed, that will now be bringing in the

It is also these casinos that have the best chance of being a front for AL Qaeda.

Some so called experts will tell you that this is not true and that it was thru owning shares

But once again the American people seem to be getting lied to by their elected Government offi

It is time we as a nation start to question and demand answers that make sense from them, afte

If you are tired of all the lies, then there is something you can do.

Jim Nickogoski the creator of the <http://www.myspace.com/angryonlinegambler> has started a web pa

The only real way for the government to ensure that money made from online gambling is not goi

So make your voice heard, write letters to senators, congressmen and even the President. Tell t

In the end I am sure the law will be reversed, maybe one day the government will learn what mo

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>