Don't have enough traffic? Then you won't have enough opportunities for visitors to perform your desired actions.

So how do you get that increase in web site traffic you want? There are a variety of ways, both free and paid.

1. Search engines

Search engines can provide an enormous increase in web site traffic. Search engine spiders can find your site and index it.

2. Link exchanging

When you exchange links with relevant, non-competing sites, you add value to your web site. If you have high-quality links on your web site, your links may help them. And if you have only high-quality links, you'll increase your search engine ranking.

3. Submit to directories

Submit to major directories like the Open Directory Project and Zeal so that your web site becomes more visible to search engines.

4. Pay-per-click advertising

Pay-per-click advertising can help you get more web site traffic. Pay-per-click advertising is a type of advertising where you only pay when someone clicks on your ad.

5. Submit articles

Write excellent articles about your web site's topic. Articles can increase your reputation and attract more visitors to your site.

6. Word of mouth

Tell everyone you know about your web site. If your web site is excellent or stands out from the crowd, people will tell others.

7. Traffic exchange

You have to be careful with traffic exchanges. Some programs tend to be very untargeted as they exchange traffic with all types of sites.

8. Word links

Purchasing Word links is the other way of increasing website traffic and search engine ranking. Word links are links that are placed on other websites to point to your site.
