

Title:

Laser Printers or Inkjet Printers? A Buyers Guide

Word Count:

427

Summary:

Often people buying a new printer are confused about whether to buy a laser printer or inkjet

Keywords:

laser printers, inkjet printers, printer cartridges, toner cartridges

Article Body:

Should you buy an inkjet or a laser printer? Often people buying a new printer are confused ab

Inkjet printers have a lower initial purchase cost but cost more to run because the ink is mor

If you want to print photos at home however, you are best to choose a photo quality inkjet pri

Inkjets are great for home use and for photo printing. Lasers are good for high-volume applica

Inkjet printers transfer tiny droplets of ink directly to the page. A laser printer creates an

If you examine the same page printed on both a laser printer and an inkjet, you will be able t

Another aspect to consider is how heavily you will be using a printer. Printer manufacturers e

For example, a typical laser printer will be capable of a duty cycle up to 7,000 pages a month

Some of the more recent inkjets provide excellent color clarity and brightness, and are very w

While inkjet printers themselves are cheaper, their ink is more expensive per page printed. In

The manufacturer's stated pages per cartridge measurements are very much dependent on what you

Toner cartridges for laser printers have a higher unit price than inkjet cartridges, but have

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>