Article Body:

From the late fifth century to the early sixth century is the setting for a beloved British fiction. While Arthur fought the Saxons, the pretenders to his kingdom and his throne, he was engaged with Queen Guinevere was, according to legend, beautiful and desirable beyond belief, and she won the heart of the king. Today it is most simply known as the time of Camelot, but it was destined to be seen again, and now it is here. Kennedy with his vivacious wife Jackie captured the imagination of the world. Here was a young, beautiful woman who perhaps less than a century after Jack and Jackie we can relive Camelot just one more time. While the times have changed. Some changes have been good fulfilling the dreams of Jack Kennedy and his wife. Fifty two inch flat screen LCD and Plasma high definition televisions have replaced the six inch black and white. Sirius Radio has replaced FM radio which replaced AM. Twenty four hour news channels like FOX and CNN. Big box stores have replaced mom and pop shops. Huge corporate stores have replaced the corner store. In a time when half of all marriages end in divorce and far too many children are being raised in single parent homes, America, can we make her better? Senator Barack Obama and his queen, the beautiful Michelle Obama, think so. Do you believe?
