So you have decided to purchase a PDA. Congratulations-you will be buying a form of technology

1) Find a PDA at a price that you can afford. Don't go crazy when you purchase a PDA, more money

2) PDAs are diverse in size and you should find one that you will be comfortable in handling. This is so true, you really need to sample a pda, I mean actually hold it in your hand and try

3) Again, the size of your PDA and its keyboard is so vitally important. No one wants to be

I just want to reemphasize this point, I not to long ago bought a PDA for my wife. Sure I sampled

4) If you are considering using your PDA to get Internet access, invest in a PDA that offers

5) If you plan to carry quite a few files or images on your PDA, you may want to purchase an

Or better yet, purchase a PDA with more installed memory. You can always buy expanded memory

In the end, if you keep the above mentioned tips in mind, you will easily find a PDA that is r
