

Title:

All About Grants (And No, President Grant Didn't Invent Them!)

Word Count:

418

Summary:

Grants are gifts of money that are given to the recipient mostly based on the merit or the need.

Keywords:

grants

Article Body:

Grants are gifts of money that are given to the recipient mostly based on the merit or the need.

Governments aren't the only institutions that give out grants. Private organizations can give out grants.

People seeking grants will write a grant proposal or fill out an application detailing their educational needs.

The most common types of grants are student aid. These grants subsidize the cost of education.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>