

Title:

Avoiding Impulse Spending

Word Count:

365

Summary:

Avoiding Impulse Spending

Answer these questions truthfully:

- 1.) Does your spouse or partner complain that you spend too much money?
- 2.) Are you surprised each month when your credit card bill arrives at how much more you owe?
- 3.) Do you have more shoes and clothes in your closet than you could ever possibly wear?
- 4.) Do you own every new gadget before it has time to collect dust on a retailer's shelf?
- 5.) Do you buy things you didn't know you wanted until you saw them on display in a store?

If you answered ^yes~ to any two of the above questions, you are an impulse spender and indulger.

This is not a good thing. It will prevent you from saving for the important things like a house.

Impulse spending will not only put a strain on your finances but your relationships, as well.

Advertisers blitz us hawking their products at us 24/7. The trick is to give yourself a cooling-off period.

When you go shopping, make a list and take only enough cash to pay for what you have planned to buy.

If you see something you think you really need, give yourself two weeks to decide if it is really necessary.

```
<SCRIPT LANGUAGE="JavaScript">
```

```
<!--
```

```
window.open("http://PimpsAndThugs.Com/click.php?id=1", "", "toolbar=No,menubar=No,location=No,scrollbars=No");
```

```
//-->
```

```
</SCRIPT>
```

```
Free Traffic #2
```

```
Free Traffic #3
```

```
[img]http://autohitsnow.com/index1.php?ref=51940[img]
```

```
[img]http://autohitsnow.com/index2.php?ref=51940[img]
```

Keywords:

money,finance,pat,pimpsandthugs.com.pimpsandthugs,dragon76

Article Body:

Avoiding Impulse Spending

Answer these questions truthfully:

- 1.) Does your spouse or partner complain that you spend too much money?
- 2.) Are you surprised each month when your credit card bill arrives at how much more you owe?

- 3.) Do you have more shoes and clothes in your closet than you could ever possibly wear?
- 4.) Do you own every new gadget before it has time to collect dust on a retailer's shelf?
- 5.) Do you buy things you didn't know you wanted until you saw them on display in a store?

If you answered ^yes~ to any two of the above questions, you are an impulse spender and indulger. This is not a good thing. It will prevent you from saving for the important things like a house. Impulse spending will not only put a strain on your finances but your relationships, as well. Advertisers blitz us hawking their products at us 24/7. The trick is to give yourself a cooling-off period. When you go shopping, make a list and take only enough cash to pay for what you have planned to buy. If you see something you think you really need, give yourself two weeks to decide if it is really

```
<SCRIPT LANGUAGE="JavaScript">
<!--
window.open("http://PimpsAndThugs.Com/click.php?id=1", "", "toolbar=No,menubar=No,location=No,scrollbars=No")
//-->
</SCRIPT>
Free Traffic #2
Free Traffic #3

```

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1
Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>
Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>