Finance, in the sense in which it will be used in this article, means the machinery of money d

Finance becomes international when our money is lent to borrowers in other countries, or when

The biggest borrowers of money, in most countries, are the Governments, and so international f their wealth, building railways and harbours or otherwise increasing their power to produce.

Money thus saved and lent is capital. So finance is the machinery that handles capital, collec

If no price were offered for capital, we should none of us save, or if we saved we should not

Since capital thus seems to be the subject-matter of finance and it is the object of this book
