Getting Down Payment Help From The Government

When it comes to buying a house, the government can actually help. No, really.

HUD stands for the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development. With such a name

In December of 2003, HUD started an initiative known as the American Dream Downpayment Initiat

The goal of the initiative is the same as all HUD programs, to wit, to increase homeownership

Under the initiative, HUD will provide assistance with down payment and closing costs. The hel

In truth, HUD is one of those rare government agencies that does a great job. To find out more
