I heard a great saying the other day, and the best part is it came from a seven year old littl

She was talking to who I think was her older brother at the mall.

They were by the rollerblades in a sports store and she asked her brother why he doesn't have

He said because he knew he would fall. Then she said shook her head and said this:

"You're afraid of falling?
Well then how did you learn how to walk?
You must of fell a couple of times trying to learn that maneuver"

This little girl had to be 7 years old at the most.
It was priceless.

The lesson:
Never let fear play a role in not trying something. Who knows, you may end up enjoying and it could even change your life.
