

Title:

MPC Confident In Rate Decision

Word Count:

303

Summary:

The Bank of England was confident in its decision to hold interest rates at its last meeting.

Minutes released from the monetary policy committee's (MPC) meeting on June 8th show that memb

Only one member voted for a rise of 0.25 per cent, as the committee appeared to balance inflat

Keywords:

TML, mortgage, remortgage, bad credit, adverse credit

Article Body:

The Bank of England was confident in its decision to hold interest rates at its last meeting.

Minutes released from the monetary policy committee's (MPC) meeting on June 8th show that memb

Only one member voted for a rise of 0.25 per cent, as the committee appeared to balance inflat

The minutes reveal that mixed messages from the housing market, weak growth in the UK, falling

The minutes stated: "Given that recent developments had been broadly in line with the May infl

Speaking at Mansion House on June 21st, Mervyn King, governor of the bank, hinted that the min

"All those listening to the speeches of MPC members ~ including this one ~ for a hint as to th

"We make up our minds one month at a time. Those, however, who read our minutes, inflation rep

© Adfero Ltd

TML specialise in providing mortgage and remortgage solutions to homeowners who have current o

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>