

Title:

Sorting Through Federal Grants

Word Count:

405

Summary:

Federal grants are given by the federal government (of course!) to many different areas of need.

Keywords:

federal grants

Article Body:

Federal grants are given by the federal government (of course!) to many different areas of need.

Federal grants are given for many different things including but not limited to the following:

Typically there is an application process. For grants called "project" grants the applicants are required to submit a proposal.

There are also federal grants that are based on need. Low income families are provided for in the form of housing vouchers.

Federal grants are also given with the more direct idea of jump starting local economies and creating jobs.

The thing to keep in mind is that this is money that as long as you are using it within the spirit of the grant.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>