So, with such volumes of debt, what is the best way forward in managing your money?

1) Prioritise your spending

Decide what you need to buy and when you need it. If it's not a necessity, put it to the bottom

2) Prioritise your borrowing

If you borrow money, when do you think you'd be able to pay it back? For example, for smaller

3) Prioritise your requirements

In addition to thinking about how much money you need to borrow and how you want to repay it,

4) Never, ever, take out a store card

Whatever the discount the store offers you on the day, remember, it won't be as a gesture of g

5) Do you really need it?

As Christmas approaches, it's easy to spend a little extra on clothes, food and drink and pres
