

Title:

Distillation From Fruit

Word Count:

518

Summary:

There is practically no variety of fruit that cannot be enjoyed in alcoholic form, from cactus

Keywords:

food, drink, alcohol, bar, equipment, supplies, supply, cocktails, Distillation, fruit

Article Body:

There is practically no variety of fruit that cannot be enjoyed in alcoholic form, from cactus

Eau-De-Vie

This term is French for "water of life," and includes a wide range of colorless fruit brandies

Plums are another popular ingredient for flavoring eau-de-vie across europe. In Alsace, for ex

Eaux-de-vie made from quinces and apricots are also enjoyed, low-sugar fruits, such as raspber

Poire William is an aromatic eau-de-vie, distilled from Williams pears. It has a soft flavor a

Other Fruit Spirits

Another well-known fruit spirit is Calvados, an apple brandy made from the cider produced in N

The color is amber to cognac brown. Calvados is a perfect digestive. calvados producers use a

Other apple spirits, which can not be labeled as Calvados, are known as eau-de-vie de pomme, a

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>