

Title:

Hot Sauce ~ Heating Things Up

Word Count:

500

Summary:

Article on why people enjoy hot sauce. There is nothing like a dash of hot sauce to liven up e

Keywords:

hot sauce,spicy food,barbecue,tabasco sauce, gourmet food,Mexican,Cajun

Article Body:

There is nothing like a dash of hot sauce to liven up even the blandest of all dishes. In fact

The term hot sauce could not have been more apt for it refers to any hot and spicy sauce made

How hot your hot sauce is going to be is determined by the type of pepper being used. Thus, yo

The hot sauce is a popular constituent in many Mexican and Cajun dishes and in Thai and Vietna

Barbecue sauce is poured onto grilled or barbecued meat. It is also used as a dipper. A hot ba

Barbecue sauces come in myriad forms, with every region boasting of their native BBQ sauce. Th

For all the fire they spew, hot pepper sauces are easy to prepare.

Take a few peppers (the number wholly depends on how hot your sauce will be) like habanera or

A word of caution

While working with pepper and pepper sauces, do remember to don the gloves. Some peppers are m

There is more to a pepper than just the tangy taste. Peppers are storehouses of vitamins A, C

The hot sauce holds its own in whatever dish it appears. As the saying goes, like it or loathe

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>