

Title:

Regional Cuisine Hunan Cuisine

Word Count:

580

Summary:

Hunan cuisine shares many commonalities with its close, more well-known cousin, Szechwan cooking.

Keywords:

cuisine, Hunan cuisine, Hunan cooking

Article Body:

Hunan cuisine shares many commonalities with its close, more well-known cousin, Szechwan cooking.

There are some important differences, though. Hunan cooking is, for one thing, even more fiery.

The differences in the actual land of the two regions also has an effect on the differences in

The land, and the hardships associated with it, also give the Hunan more time to concentrate on

Hunan cuisine is noted for its use of chili peppers, garlic and shallots, and for the use of

More and more, restaurants are beginning to sort out the two cuisines, and Hunan cuisine is

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>