A dermatologist would definitely know more about this type of skin infection and how one might

There are a few things to consider when a visit to the dermatologist is needed:

- 1 if over the counter treatments do not have any positive effect on the acne problem;
- 1 if a person has more than one sign of skin infection, such as whiteheads, blackheads,
- 1 if the acne appears not just in the face, but also throughout the body;
- 1 if scars are visible on areas where one previously had acne;
- 1 if there is pus filled spots on one's face that is painful when touched or tampered wi
- 1 if there is continuous inflammation in the face; and
- 1 if this skin infection starts to limit one's social interactions.

A person with acne should keep these points in mind whenever he decides to seek help from a d
