

Title:

Chronic Daily Headache: Same Old, Same Old

Word Count:

936

Summary:

Daily and near-daily headaches are common and disabling. Correct diagnosis of headaches can le

Keywords:

headache, chronic daily, migraine, tension, medication overuse, rebound, cluster, tmj, hemicrania, gian

Article Body:

^Chronic daily headache~ (CDH) refers to the unhappy situation in which headaches are present

CDH can occur in the form of either ^primary headaches~ or ^secondary headaches.~ Secondary he

The most common primary headache condition is ^tension-type headaches.~ Generally affecting th

Migraine is another common primary headache disorder which, when present more days than not, i

While some people have frequent, individual, migraine attacks that span more than 15 days per

To make matters even more interesting, a person can have more than one type of headache, for e

Two other kinds of primary headache are rarer than migraine and tension-type headaches, and sh

Secondary headaches taking the form of CDH can be due to numerous causes. Among them are head

Two secondary forms of CDH deserve special mention--giant cell arteritis and medication overus

Medication overuse headaches (also known as rebound headaches) occur when a primary headache d

The group of disorders known as chronic daily headache afflicts 3-5% of the worldwide populati

(C) 2005 by Gary Cordingley

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>