

Title:

An Easy Way Out: Eight Reasons Why You Should Pre-Plan Your Funeral

Word Count:

288

Summary:

Take the hassle out of funeral planning by doing it in advance. Here are eight reasons why you

Keywords:

bereavement, funeral planning, estate planning, prepaid funeral plan

Article Body:

Most people want to put off thinking about their funerals. However, you can save your loved ones

1. Your wishes will be carried out.

What you want to happen will take place. This is vitally important to most people.

2. The Funeral Director's costs are fixed from the outset so your family will be spared financial

You'll know that your funeral director will not be able to increase their fees agreed with you

3. You can choose the plan you want and you can specify your own 'extras'.

You can plan your pre-paid funeral plan to your own satisfaction.

4. You spare your family from difficult decisions

Who really wants to make those decisions apart from the person themselves?

5. Your own finances may be improved

You may be entitled to benefits from local authorities if your total finances are below certain

6. You won't worry about the safety of your money - it will be held in trust

You can't pay money directly to the plan provider's bank account.

7. Another family member may need the plan before you

You can transfer the plan to another family member if their need arrives before your own. Some

8. Those you leave behind will remember your thoughtfulness

This is very important to most people. When we leave this life we like to think that others th

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>