

Title:

Choosing The Best Bed Wetting Alarms ~ They Are Not All The Same

Word Count:

633

Summary:

Bedwetting alarms are not all the same, and you must know what you are looking for

Keywords:

bed wetting alarms, bedwetting alarms, enuresis alarms

Article Body:

Bed wetting alarms are not all the same, even though they are all designed for the same purpose

There are three main types of bed wetting alarms on the market:

- Wired bedwetting alarms
- Bedwetting alarms that clip to the underpants
- Bedwetting alarm in a rubber pad

Each of these alarms has advantages and disadvantages. What may work for one child may not work for another

The wired bed wetting alarms are very unique in that they are really panty liners. The remote sensors are also unique.

The most common type of bed wetting alarms on the market today is the panty liner with sensors.

Bed wetting alarms that come with a rubber pad is wired but does not pose any problem with the alarm.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>