This year, instead of giving your mom a boring mothers day gift, how about making her a cookie

The best thing about making a cookie bouquet, is that your mom will absolutely love you! Cooki

Many cookie bouquets are basic, and only have cookies in them. I like to add a bit more style

You will need:

- 9 Large choc-chip cookies
- 7 Wrapped candies
- Floristry wire
- Cellophane (Any color, although I use clear)
- Ribbon
- Stem-tape
- 15 Leaves

*** Step 1: Wire and tape the leaves *****

Start by wiring and taping the leaves...

You wire a silk leaf by pushing the floristry wire through the silk part of the leaf, behind t

To stem-tape the wire, hold it in your left hand, and then wrap the stem tape around the wire

*** Step 2: Prepare cookies to be added to the cookie bouquet *****

You don't need to wrap the cookies, but I like to, because it helps to keep them fresh. I woul

Cut the cellophane into 9 squares. Make sure the cellophane squares are large enough to wrap a

Next wrap the cookies in the cellophane, and twist the end.

Then wire and tape the cellophane, and snip off any excess cellophane.

*** Step 3: Prepare the candies to be added to the cookie bouquet *****

Wire and stem tape the candies. Depending on the different candies you used, you might have to

*** Step 4: Fan the cookies out in the bouquet *****

Hold the cookies in a bunch in one hand. Then bend out the wire slightly, to fan out the cooki

*** Step 5: Fill in the cookies bouquet with leaves *****

Place the leaves in the gaps in the bouquet. Fan out the leaves, so that they make a circular

*** Step 6: Add the candies to the cookie bouquet *****

Fill in any remaining gaps with the candies prepared in step 3. Try and keep the bouquet symmetrical.

*** Step 7: Tape the handle *****

To finish the cookie bouquet, just trim the ends of the wires in the handle to an even length.

That's it, a cookie bouquet ready to give your mom. Write out a greeting on a mothers day card.
