

Title:

Today's Children

Word Count:

468

Summary:

Children today are different from what their parents were in their childhood. The age of innocence

Keywords:

Article Body:

Children today are different from what their parents were in their childhood. The age of innocence in first world countries is very high and increasing in the other nations. Most children receive

It's true that children today are getting much more freedom than ever- and this is only increasing

The evils of the internet are readily available for all kids to see. Quite a few hackers in the Incidents may be far and few but are revealing. They expose the very structure of society which

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>