

Title:

Google: Friend or Foe?

Word Count:

802

Summary:

Don't get me wrong, almost all of us love Google to death. It has single-handedly changed the

Keywords:

google, search engines, privacy, internet

Article Body:

Don't get me wrong, almost all of us love Google to death. It has single-handedly changed the

We had a handful of methods of finding information. They were so-called search engines. Their

This is when they became portals instead of search engines. Instead of offering just search re

While every portal was busy trying to deliver us critical information about when to kiss our d

Their approach to a lot of the services they now do to this day is very well executed. Some w

However, as good as the methods and intentions of Google may be, there is indeed a danger to c

It even records what sites you jump to from the Google search list. As our dependency on Googl

Robert Petrick, an American citizen, is being held on trial for the murder of his wife. A terr

The possibilities of abuse here are paramount. Google is unable to really defend our privacy i

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>