Article Body:

There are thousands of online stores selling everything, and giving you access to a wider range of products.

While the majority of stores offer a great service, consumers should exercise care when shopping on-line.

If you are dealing with a company for the first time make sure you read the terms and conditions carefully.

Also check their web site for a postal address and a telephone number - most genuine companies will have these.

Also read their privacy policy carefully.

Within the European Union, customers are entitled to a full refund when shopping on-line, if they are not satisfied.

The safest way to buy on-line is by using your credit card or paying by cheque. Cheques must be cashed.

Most reliable retail sites offer a ten to thirty day, full refund, but postal charges are normally extra.

When you do shop on-line, check your credit card statement. If you do notice unauthorised transactions, report them immediately.

Every day there seems to be new reports of shoppers getting ripped-off when shopping on-line.

Be very wary of these rogue scams. A reliable shopping site will have a credit card billing service.
