Article Body:

There really is only one way to make money on the internet -- sales.

Really it is the truth. Of course there are a lot of different variations in how and what you

At first glance your choices are pretty straightforward:

- ~ Sell other people's products
- ~ Sell your own products
- ~ Sell yourself
- ~ Sell space on your web site, blog, or publication

Then things start to get complicated.

Even something as simple as selling products created by others takes on some unique twists on

- ~ Selling as an affiliate to earn commission on each sale (you deliver customer to vendor)
- ~ Selling unlimited electronic products as a reseller to earn 100% profit on each sale
- ~ Selling a limited number of products you bought at wholesale to earn the difference
- ~ Selling as a drop shipper to earn a percentage of each sale (you are the middle man)

Each method offers its own blend of benefits and drawbacks and you need to decide which suits

Selling your own products can be complicated as well by the need to organize issues such as pa

Selling yourself offers advantages in that you don't need to deal with many of the problems in
