The truth of the matter is, that Internet Reality is defined by the search engines and the algo did not work well with the search engines and therefore would have always limited our success.

My mistakes began at the very beginning, when I purchased a third party PHP shopping cart and requests timed out as often as 60% of the time. Now in all fairness to the software industry,

In utter disgust, I turned to a suggestion seen at WorldWide Brands and chose to open up a Yah
