

Title:

Website Buying Guide Checklist

Word Count:

616

Summary:

Can you really get a website even without knowing anything about code, and without paying a fee?

The days when websites were primarily distinguished by their code are long gone. Nowadays, the

Keywords:

Article Body:

Can you really get a website even without knowing anything about code, and without paying a fee?

The days when websites were primarily distinguished by their code are long gone. Nowadays, the

Content Editing

Some website authoring software packages only allow you to enter plain, unformatted text. Some

Template Designs

Every website builder ever invented came with at least one or two templates for creating the

Ecommerce Functions

Many ready-to-go websites created by website builder software feature built-in shopping carts.

Blogging Functions

Blogs are "web logs," but blogging software involves more than just a simple online journal. E

Email

Some hosted web authoring systems provide email accounts at no additional charge, while others

Support

It is very likely that you will encounter a technical difficulty at some point while owning yo

Photo and Image Management

For many, if not most, people who want personal websites, displaying pictures online is a prim

Renting vs. Owning

You can buy website authoring software upfront for a flat fee, or you can "rent;" i.e., pay a

In short, you don't need to know how a website is coded to make one, any more than a book auth

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>

