

Title:

Finding A Local Florist - Sorting Out the Weeds of Deceptive Flower Shop Phone Listings

Word Count:

971

Summary:

You want to send flowers to Aunt Sally in Newark or your sister Susan in San Antonio. You decide

Keywords:

flowers,flowers delivery,flower delivery,local florist,florist,floral,online florist,flowers o

Article Body:

You want to send flowers to Aunt Sally in Newark or your sister Susan in San Antonio. You decide

Many of the online resources are overcrowded with national marketers and wire services rather

While these deceptive phone listings have officially been banned in many states as intentional

The strategy first surfaced in the mid-nineties. States such as Virginia and Delaware recognize

The Phone Listing Scam

Take a quick trip over to whitepages.com. Do a search for business type "florist springfield,"

According to customers, the real disservice isn't the false listing; it's the poor service. T

Avoid Being a Victim

There may be no easy way to recover from being a victim of this kind of advertising deception,

- Trust your hometown florist. Most are seasoned professionals who can deliver your gift almost
- If you shop online, choose a nationwide florist that proudly displays a toll-free phone number
- Get advice from friends, neighbors, or business associates. They're often the best source
- If you do search for local florists online or in phone books, be sure to avoid those with g

The vast majority of florists are hard-working, family-owned businesses dedicated to serving y

Courtesy of Flowers Delivery Florists

Permission is granted to republish this article in its entirety on the Internet, as long as th

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>