

Title:

The Different Types Of Candles

Word Count:

409

Summary:

It is no wonder that candles are so popular. These simple light sources create a romantic setting.

One of the most popular types of candles is the pillar candle. These candles are cylinder shaped.

Keywords:

candles

Article Body:

It is no wonder that candles are so popular. These simple light sources create a romantic setting.

One of the most popular types of candles is the pillar candle. These candles are cylinder shaped.

The taper candle is used to add some soft lighting at the dining room table. These candles are used for special occasions.

Votive candles are small candles, but they are usually grouped together to make a big impact.

Floating candles are the ideal way to create a beautiful centerpiece. Having candles float in water is a beautiful sight.

Jar candles are scented candles made with high quality paraffin or soy. These candles can really add to the atmosphere of your home.

Finally, since candles have an open flame, they can be dangerous to use. To keep your home safe, follow these tips:

1. Never leave a burning candle unattended.
2. Always use some sort of candle holder. They will help protect furniture from dripping wax.
3. Consider using a candle shade to reduce soot from candle flames.
4. To enjoy scented candles without worrying about an open flame, try candle warmers. The candle warms the wax, releasing the scent without the flame.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>