Coaching our youth is a delicate practice that needs to be taken with the kids self confidence

We over criticize when we are talking to them instead of building up their self confidence. I Remember, we are building more than just ballplayers here. We are building people who are going

But how do we get them to play better if they can't stand a little criticism? By encouraging t

If your kid strikes out 4 times in the game. Put an arm around him after the game and tell him

Remember these simple tips:

1- Encourage them through positive reinforcement.

2- Nurture them when times are tough.

3- Be there for them when they need your help.

4- And love them unconditionally.

Remember, help your kids out by encouragement. I can't say this enough. They will believe what
And also remember, be patient. They are still learning, so you need to give them time to succeed

We all have a responsibility to help our youth. They are the future stars of tomorrow, both on molding them forever. The lessons you teach them now will stick with them. They are like sponges your flowers to watch them bloom beautifully. Same goes for your child.

Don't hesitate to put an arm around them when they have had a bad game or struck out 3 times.
