

Title:

Dangers Of The Underwater World

Word Count:

575

Summary:

Marine life is extremely different from that of terrestrial life. The underwater experience is

Coral reefs house animals of every shape, size, and color. The Coral reef has been around for

Keywords:

scuba, scuba diving, coral reef, underwater

Article Body:

Marine life is extremely different from that of terrestrial life. The underwater experience is

Coral reefs house animals of every shape, size, and color. The Coral reef has been around for

Some of the animals you may encounter on a dive will be beautiful, but dangerous. It is a good

Probably, the most widely known animal a diver may encounter is the shark. The majority of spe

Sharks are unpredictable creatures even though they don't typically attack humans. When a pers

Eels are another animal a diver may encounter underwater. The moray eel is the most common eel

Electric rays may be encountered on a dive also. They are animals that have the ability to sho

Jellyfish are another animal to avoid. Jellyfish are free-floating in the open sea. They drift

Other animals in the sea that can be potentially dangerous are the sea urchins, mollusks, sea

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>