

Title:

Fearless (Perhaps Foolish) Playoff Predictions For 2006

Word Count:

791

Summary:

Now that the draft, free agency and the first set of minicamps have come and gone, teams are o

Keywords:

Fearless, Perhaps, Foolish, Playoff, Predictions, for, 2006

Article Body:

Now that the draft, free agency and the first set of minicamps have come and gone, teams are o

AFC East Top Two Finishers: New England and Miami

The Patriots, for the first time in two years, are looking to recapture the title they lost la

AFC North Top Two Finishers: Pittsburgh and Cleveland

Pittsburgh is the defending Super Bowl Champion, and they return most of their team. Their nu

AFC South Top Two Finishers: Indianapolis and Jacksonville

The Colts will have a Mt. Everest-sized chip on their shoulder this year after a disappointing

AFC West Top Two Finishers: Denver and Kansas City

Denver was a few plays from the Super Bowl last season and added star WR Javon Walker in a dra

Playoff Teams: Patriots, Steelers, Browns, Colts, Broncos, Chiefs

The Dolphins and Jaguars will be left out of the wild card spots. The Dolphins will win their

NFC East Top Two Finishers: Dallas and New York

The Cowboys lacked one thing last year - a game breaking threat on offense, and that need was

NFC North Top Two Finishers: Chicago and Green Bay

The Bears have a dominant defense, and no offense in the division looks to be a threat to that

NFC South Top Two Finishers: Carolina and Tampa Bay

The Panthers were ^this~ close to the big game last year, and they added a much-needed complin

NFC West Top Two Finishers: Seattle and Arizona

The Seahawks are the defending NFC Champions, and they benefit by being in a division that's m

Playoff Teams: Cowboys, Bears, Packers, Panthers, Seahawks, Cardinals

The Buccaneers and the Giants may be better teams in 2006 than the Packers and Cardinals, but

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>