

Title:

Hey, boxing fans

Word Count:

824

Summary:

There is a heavyweight title fight on Saturday, but, apparently, in the eyes of the mainstream

Keywords:

boxing, sports bettin, betting odds, online sportsbooks, gambling, propositions bets

Article Body:

Chris Byrd (39-2-1) is defending his IBF title for the fifth time, in a rematch of a bout that

Go ahead, and try to find an article about this attractive match in your local newspaper ~ ok,

I have been a huge fan of the squared circle for many years, and even I will admit that my int

Let's just focus on the heavyweight division for now. We have the nearly 40 year-old James Ton

In addition, there is Hasim Rahman as the WBC champion. Rahman is a nice gent who scored a luc

The other three heavyweight beltholders ~ quick, see if you name just one - are not recognized

Have you heard of Nicolay Valuev? He is the WBA champion; how about the WBO champion, the well

There is still plenty of boxing on ESPN, and I recall a few fights in recent years on network

The price for bouts on PPV - and we are not talking good boxing - starts at 30 bucks and works

Plus, while we at it, let me get my two cents in on the undercard fights on these PPV cards. W

Hey, this column is almost finished, and I nearly forgot to talk more about that heavyweight t

Whenever Chris Byrd is fighting, and you have to pay money to watch, spend your fifty bucks el

Even though Byrd is the champion and Vitali was left plastered on the ring by 39-year old Cor

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>