

Title:

New Rules For 2006 Formula One Season

Word Count:

381

Summary:

2006 Formula One drivers will experience new rules for the 2006 season opening race in Bahrain.

Keywords:

formula 1, f1 odds, f1 betting lines, f1 bahrain, f1 malaysia, f1 australia, f1 san marino, eur

Article Body:

2006 Formula One drivers will experience new rules for the 2006 season opening race in Bahrain.

The F1 season will start on Sunday with the Grand Prix in Bahrain which will have different rules.

The last six cars from the two fifteen minute races will be eliminated. The car starting in pole

For the first two qualifying periods, the session will end when the checkered flag comes out,

Regarding fuel limits, the three liter ten-cylinder V motors will be replaced by the 2.4 liter

FIA estimates that due to this modification, cars will lose 200 horse power and the time for a

The FIA has also mandated that a driver must set a lap within 110-percent of his previous fastest

This year there will be eleven teams competing in the F1 Grand Prix instead of the usual ten.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>