Article Body:

I purchased a Soldius1 solar charge last year to charge my granddaughter's iPod and cell phone

It comes with seven plastic adapters for charging 250 different devices including power-hungry

The solar charger worked just like the manufacturer said it would, and charged my granddaughte

This is a fantastic charger, but with a 1.1 watt/6 volt rating you're limited to the number of devices it can charge during the course of a day.

This fact was born out when my wife and I recently took my granddaughter and two of her friend

Try as it might, the Soldius1 was no match for all the electronic gizmos these teens brought a

The Brunton Solaris 25 solar charger with 25 watts/15.4 volts worth of charging power, gave us

When you consider the wide range of larger electric devices it can power, the durability, (they use these on the polar ice cap), and the speed with which it charges, the Br

One more thing - you can connect up to three units for triple the power.

Whether you're using a solar charger for camping or charging the batteries on your yacht, it's
