

Title:

Sort The Tickets Out FIFA

Word Count:

327

Summary:

Once again loyal fans from around the world descend on a major football tournament to support

Year on year they turn up in their thousands only for the majority of them to return home early

So why do the footballing authorities continue to give priority to corporations and members of

The inevitable result is thousands of t...

Keywords:

Article Body:

Once again loyal fans from around the world descend on a major football tournament to support

Year on year they turn up in their thousands only for the majority of them to return home early

So why do the footballing authorities continue to give priority to corporations and members of

The inevitable result is thousands of true supporters are driven to the black market, lining t

The touts must be laughing every time England qualify for a major tournament knowing thousands

England consistently take more supporters than any other nation and are ritually fleeced time

Tickets change hands for as much as £2000 a time when greedy touts know the desperation faced

But it's not just England fans that suffer. Many nations take a large following to tournaments

When each team gets allocated just 4,500 tickets in a 40,000 capacity stadium the figures just

In a recent match involving Mexico a whole block of seating was vacated during half time. Corp

Meanwhile the true fans are locked outside watching their heroes on giant screens and paying e

And it's not just football. Every summer brings the Wimbledon tennis championships to London a

The toffs eat their strawberries and cream and sip expensive champagne while the real fans sit

It's the genuine fans who fund the sports and whom the authorities should treat with a little

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>