

Title:

Controversy Continues Between Home Builders Association and Orlando Schools

Word Count:

671

Summary:

Since the year 2000 when the Martinez Doctrine was promoted by the Orange County School District

Keywords:

orlando schools

Article Body:

Since the year 2000 when the Martinez Doctrine was promoted by the Orange County School District

Further strain was put on this tense relationship by the state's growth management law, which

In 2002, a halfpenny sales tax for Orange County and the Orlando schools was passed to provide

According to the Orlando schools, building and renovation efforts have been hampered by the state

The MOABA is charging that the school board is sitting on unused money, due to poor financial

According to the Orlando schools, the funding was separated by the district schools by applying

Kirk Sorenson, president of Government Solutions, a consulting firm hired by the association,

The MOHBA has proposed a new plan to expedite new building and renovation construction for the

If the two groups can be brought together, the School Express will allow the following:

- Approved developers will borrow money for new school construction from local banks, ex
- Developers will get fast-track permitting for the Orlando schools construction, and
- They will build each school within two years.

The school district held only one informal meeting on the proposal and may convene a panel to

If the district approves the Express program, further approval will be required by the city of

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>