

Title:

Off-Site Learning Still Going the Distance

Word Count:

264

Summary:

What do Franklin D. Roosevelt, Walter P. Chrysler and Charles Schulz all have in common?

Keywords:

Off-Site Learning Still Going the Distance

Article Body:

What do Franklin D. Roosevelt, Walter P. Chrysler and Charles Schulz all have in common?

According to the National Home Study Council, these distinguished men are three of the million

Distance learning - being educated through mediated information and instruction by using techn

In the century that followed, significant steps were taken in advancing home study. These deve

In turn, research indicates that correspondence students perform just as well as their classro

"If you are 18 years or older, online education is the best way to get your high school diplom

The Liberty High School Diploma Program provides educational home study for adults looking to

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>